

Belief is reached late and cheaply — an S-curve of solves, and a solve-time collapse the round its abstraction lands

Non-mental families solve in round 1 and sit flat at their ceiling. Belief becomes reachable only once the joint stitch abstracts the parts it reuses — its enumeration time then drops from the full timeout to seconds in a single round, the round its S-curve steps up.

